CAPTAIN CANOT. UTHOR OF THE GREAT BOOK JUST BE-ING PUBLISHED, SPEAKS of HAMPTON'S

GREAT CURE OF RHEUMATISM CO-TRACTED UNDER TROPICAL CLIMATES. BALTIMORE, Md., June 4, 1854. the Buntain Hotel, Light street,

Dear Sir : Being on the point of leaving the city, avail myself of a few idle mements to thank you kindly for the medicine you sent me, and which has restored me to the use of my limbs. I beg you to send me four bottles more, to carry on my voyage. since I had the fortune to use Dr. Hampton's Vege table Tincture my confidence is so strong that, in gratitude to the proprietors of said medicine, I beg ou to present my respects to them, and induce them to make it more publicly known as a sure Rheumatic cure. Having called on me on the 19th of April last, and seen me prostrated on my bed, useless in all my limbs, you can appreciate nearly as well as myself the prompt relief I received from Dr. Hampton's Tincture, and I am positive had it not been for your strong and forcible recommendations I should still have been in bed.

It is really a pity this specific should not be approved by medical men, and like all patent drugs it should suffer the imputation the public generally give to such preparations. I myself, who was al ways opposed to a patented specific, took this medi-cine with reluctance, and without confidence in it, and it was only through your disinterested, friendly recommendations, and my critical situation that induced me to try this really beneficial Vegetable Tincture.

You may inform Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray that they are at liberty to make use of my name in the support of the good effects of Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, as it has cured me in five weeks of a chronic Inflammatory Rheumatism, contracted under tropical climates, and of seven years' periodical luration. I have only used three bottles, and find that even the deformed parts of my hands are fast eturning o their former natural appearance

I have been under the treatment of several physicisms in London and Paris, without any apparent ben fit; also, while in New York, having tried the Thompsonian and Homopathic remedies, after having been tormented with galvanic ba teries, cold and aromatic baths, and hundreds of internal and external medicines, all to no effect, I am, so far. cured by this Hampton's Vege able Tineture only. Therefore, my cear sir, accept of the assurance of my gratitude, and believe me your well wisher. THOMAS CANOT.

REV. VERNON ESKRIDGE, U. S. N.

PORTSMOUTH, VA , Aug. 18, 1851. Mr. J. R. Boush-wear sir : While I am, in general, opposed to patent medicines, candor compels me to state that I have great confidence in the virtues of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture. For several months past I have used it in my family; and in dyspepsia, loss of appetite, dizziness, and general debility, with entire success. So far as my experience , therefore, I take ple asure in recommend ing it to the afflicted as a safe and efficient remedy.

I am, respectfully, yours, VERNON ESERIDGE. Chaplain, United States Navy. HOME TESTIMONY.

The many cures it has wrought is a sufficient guarantee of the beneficial results which may be experienced from its use. Yours. J. CURTAIN HAY. WONDER OF THE WORLD. THE Great Wonder of the World has at length been discovered. You cannot make one hair white or black, but Mr BYRON H. KOBB has at length procured the truth of the great secret, after much study, toil. and expense, how to make the hair corl and wave in the most grac-ful manner for life. The proprietor has travelled through varicus parts of Europe, for upwards of nine years in search of the e-lebrated chemist and physiologist, M. Jaques, and has at length found him in Italy, and purchased of him the receipt for the sum of $8,000. All persons having the most uncouth and coarsecoking hair can have it transformed into the most beautiful and curling appearance that could be desired. The composition of which the article is composed will not cost more than 50 cents, and but one application is needed to the hair to cause it to wave in the most uniform and perfect manner for life. and thus improve the looks and appearance one hundred per cent. We now offer this wonderful discovery to the world for the sum of $1 00. Direct all letters to BYRON H. ROBB, Farmingon, Trumbull co., Ohio, and the receipt will be immediately forwarded to the person. All letters must be post paid to secure attention.

When the American army was encamped at alley Forge, a British officer, who was quar tered upon the family of agentleman in Phil adelphia, had occasion to visit the camp, with message unde a flag of truce

The lady of the house determined to accompany him, for the purpose of taking a suit of egimentals to her husband, who had been out or some time with the Continental army; and. as it was necessary to conceal her design from pity and save us the officer, the matter was accomplished by Having taken the stuffing out of the cushions of the gig, the regiment ils were inser ed in its place, and things went on smoothly, until the roughness of the road suggested to the ger deman that his seat was none of the softest. In vain were two unoffending coat-tails condemned to eternal punishment, and rudely erked from beneath their owner, who believed that they were the culprits, and in vain were his pockets searched, in hopes that the removal of a stray key or pen-knife would alleviate have I?

his misery. Perceiving the trouble, and knowing the of conversation to the u most, in hopes of diverting his attention from so pressing a sub ject; but the gig would bump on, and the Continental buttons obstinately insisted on avenging their country's wrongs upon the person of till I get where beef is tough. Saw you e'er such comic faces?" while he, poor fellow, inwardly cursed the primitiveness of Yankee cushions, and sighed for the luxurious quarters that he had left behind him.

Weary miles were traveled, the captain still suffering the penalty of his loyalty, when sud denly the truth flashed across his mind, and memory recalled certain mysterious conversations he had overheard in the house about broadcleth and embroidery. The secret was discovered but his troubles were not yet over, for he now found himself on the horns of a dilemma as uncomfortable as the Continental buttons, and he rode on perplexed between his studied and practiced at home; and learn lic that he has opened a Shop at the corner C duty to his King, and his obligations to the

A significant smile and gesture alone informed his companion that the artifice was discovered, and the rebel garments were suffered to reach their destination unmolested. Posterity may settle the question as to whether the energy or ingenuity of the young wife deserves the more praise, and whether the officer should have superceded that of the gentleman; but one thing is certain, the rebel gantleman received a uniform which he sadly needed; and the memory of the lady is more fondly cherished by her descendants, whenever they think of the "Continental Buttons."

Bizarre. The New Statue for the Capitol.

The central figure of the pediment repreents America standing on a rock, against while the sun, rising at her feet, indicates the light which accompanies the march of liberty. In one hand she holds the rewards of civil and The pioneer is the athletic figure of a backwoodsman, clearing the forest. The Indian race and its extinction is explained by the adjoining group of the Indian chief and family. The son of the chief is ruturning from the shase, with a collection of game slung on a pear over his shoulder. In the statue of the Indian chief, Mr. Crawford has endeavored to lescribe the despair and profound grief resolting from the conviction of the white man's triumph. The wife and infant of the chief complete this group of figures, while the grave being emblematic of the extinction of the indian race, fills up this portion. The opposite half of the pediment is devoted to the effects of liberty and civilization. The first figure on the right of America represents its soldier. He is clothed in the costame of the revolution, as being suggestive of the country's struggle for independence; his hand upon his sword indicates the readiness of the army to protect America from insult. By the soldier is placed a merchant sitting on the emblems of trade; his right hand rests upon the globe, by which the extent of American commerce is symbolized. The anchor at his feet connects this figure with those of two boys advancing to devote themselves to the service of their country. The anchor is easily understood to be the emblem of hope; behind them sits the teacher instructing a youth. The mechanic completes the group. He rests upon the cog-wheel, without which a machinery is useless. In his hands are the emblems of trade; and at his feet are sheaves of corn expressive of fertility, activity, and abundance, in contradistinction to the grave at the corresponding corner.

Count Boulbon's Defeat.

The San Diego Herald gives the following account of the last battle of Count Raousset de Boulbon, of whose execution we have previously been informed:

"After organizing his force, he made a de-monstration against the government, whereupon the Sonorians turned out in force, aided by one company of Germans under Captain Seafeldt, and one of Irish and other foreigners, with two heavy cannon and one howitzer. The Germans and Irish stuck closely to the Seno rians A desperate conflict took place in streets of Guaymas, between the opposite forces. The battery was served with terrible effect by the Germans and Irish, and numbers of the French fell at every [discharge, Still, headed by Boutbon, they charged furiously up to the very mouth of the cannon, but were again repilsed with great loss. Boulbon's force amounted to nearly 400 men. all of whom are represented to have fought with desperate courage. But the Germans and Irish, with their cannon, could not be dislodged, while the Mexicans, taking heart, assailed the French on all sides.

In the midst of the conflict, Boulton challenged the Colonel of the Sonorian forces to single combat. It was accepted, and as they were approaching each other, Boulbon was struck in the neck with an escopette ball, and fell severely wounded from his horse. The Sonorians, Germans and Irish, set up a shout of triumph, and the French immediwere wild with exultation. From 90 to 120 Frenchmen are said to have been killed in the conflict.
